The “Faculty” of the Department shall consist of Assistant Professors, Associate Professors, Professors, Clinical Assistant Professors, Clinical Associate Professors, and Clinical Professors as stipulated in the University Statutes (Article II Section 3.a.1 and 3.a.2.). Other terms are self-evident, or defined in the proper place.

The voting faculty of the Department shall comprise all tenured and tenure-track appointments in Linguistics and Less Commonly Taught Languages, as well as all faculty having the rank of assistant professor or above modified by the term “clinical,” with a 50% or greater appointment.

The Department is a single administrative unit. The task of its faculty is to teach and conduct research in the fields of Linguistics, broadly construed, the Teaching of English as a Second Language, and the teaching of any language within the umbrella of Less Commonly Taught Languages. In addition, interdisciplinary teaching and research are highly encouraged within the Department and with other units.

5. The Head, in consultation with the Faculty, shall be responsible for the development and submission of proposals for new courses and instructional programs within the Department.

Section 3. Faculty

a. In accordance with the University Statutes (Article IV, Sec. 3f), if the Department of Linguistics and Less Commonly Taught Languages has no more than six voting faculty members, the Faculty then serves, in practice, as the Advisory Committee.

b. Minutes of each meeting of the Faculty shall be prepared under the direction of the Head.

c. The Head shall regularly consult with the Faculty concerning all matters of Departmental policy relating to administration, budget, research, teaching, advising, and allocation of faculty resources.

d. The Head shall convene a meeting of the Faculty at least once a semester during the academic year to discuss relevant Departmental business. Except in emergency situations, the agenda shall be distributed in advance. Additional meetings may be called at the discretion of the Head. Given their contributions to the department, lecturers may also be asked to attend Faculty meetings. In cases of confidential topics, lecturers may be asked to exit the meeting.

e. The Faculty shall elect a Committee Chair to preside over meetings in the absence of the Head. In the event of the incapacity or absence of the Head, the Committee Chair shall act in his/her stead with regard to the day–to–day business of the Department until such time as the Head returns or until the Dean appoints a successor.

f. If any member of the committee submits to the Head a written request for a meeting, the Head shall convene the committee within five working days after receipt of the request.
Article III. Promotion and Tenure Committee (See Procedures and Criteria for Promotion, Tenure, and Non-retention for more detail.)

a. This Committee consists of all tenured members of the Department and such additional members as are to be appointed under the By-Laws of School of Literatures, Cultural Studies, and Linguistics. The Committee advises the Head on matters of promotion, tenure, and non-retention. The appointment of additional members will be made by the Director of the School, in consultation with the Executive Committee of the School. Moreover, if the membership of the P&T Committee constituted as described above is fewer than five, the Director, in consultation with the Executive Committee of the School, shall select additional members to bring the total up to a minimum of five. Except for policies determined by University Statutes or College bylaws (see, for example Article III, Section 5.b: point 9), all other promotion and tenure processes will remain as determined by the departmental bylaws, i.e., the head will prepare the tenure and promotion papers after the departmental vote. Papers will be forwarded to the School. The School Director will add a statement.

b. The Head chairs the Committee but does not vote.

c. Members on leave notify the Head at the beginning of their leave as to whether or not they wish to vote on a case and must follow all requirements for participation and absentee voting as specified in the Department’s P&T Guidelines.

d. Proceedings of the Promotion and Tenure Committee are in accordance with the current guidelines of UIC. Committee members do not vote in promotion, tenure, or non-retention cases of persons of their own rank or above, nor do they participate in any evaluative discussion of academic performance or progress toward promotion of such persons.

Article IV. Departmental Officers

A. 1. The Head shall act as the Director of Graduate Studies (DGS) of Linguistics. The Director of Graduate Studies is appointed by the Dean of the Graduate College.

2. The Director of Graduate Studies of Linguistics administers the departmental graduate program. These responsibilities include acting on admission, nominating graduate students for awards and teaching assistantships, overseeing the advising and registration of graduate students, acting on petitions from graduate students, conducting departmental business with the Graduate College, and handling other matters pertaining to the graduate programs. At the discretion of the DGS, other faculty members within the department may be consulted on these issues and asked to participate in some aspects of administering the graduate program.
3. At the discretion of the Director of Graduate Studies, faculty may be asked to provide some advising to students. Faculty here, as above, means all tenured and tenure-track Assistant Professors, Associate Professors, and Professors. Likewise, the DGS may also consult with or delegate to Faculty other responsibilities for admissions, nominating students for awards and assistantships, and other aspects of the program. However, all incoming students to MA program will be advised by the DGS prior to and during their first semester. If advising is delegated, those advisors will need to consult the DGS on such issues as approval of courses outside of the program, transfer credit, course waivers, and any other issue that may seem out of the ordinary.

4. With respect to the running of the Less Commonly Taught Languages programs, those faculty, lecturers, or academic professionals identified as directors, will work in close consultation with the Head/DGS. However, they are primarily responsible for the running of these programs.

Each member of the faculty shall receive annually a written copy of his/her review, which shall also become part of the faculty member’s permanent Departmental file.

Section 2: The Annual Reviews will also serve as input for Salary Review

The Head of School will attach his or her own letter and forward the entire packet to the College. If the faculty member seeking emeritus status is the Head of the Department, the materials and vote tally will be sent directly to the Head of the School. This process should be completed at least three months prior to the intended retirement date.

Article IX  Grievances
